We understand that the Board of Directors of the Wilmington and Manchester Railroad Company, at their meeting on the 14th inst., passed resolutions directing that delegates to the Southern Commercial Convention to be held in Charleston on the second Monday in April next, should go and return over the road for A full assortment of PAINTS always on hand and for sale, one fare. And that in respect to the application of the Post Master General to run a double daily mail over the road, the President was instructed to notify ,000 BOXES Window Glass, assorted sizes and the Department that the company would be prepared to do so by the first of May next, on receiving two weeks do so by the first of May next, on receiving two weeks notice of such service, with proper schedules, provided the South Carolina Railroad Company would connect with them with passenger trains to accommodate the travel. The time mentioned is that which > to commence running a double train. As to the compensation of this double service, the President has, we learn, advised the Department that they expect no more than other connecting lines running with them receive for the service, but that they will not consent to do it for less. There is certainly no reason that this line should be required by the Department, or any one else, to do the mail service for a less rate of compensation than other companies, connecting with them, receive. The cost of transportation with the Manchester company is greater than on the old lines, as they have to provide extra machinery to run two trains, till the completion of their bridge at the Great Pee Dee, and extra forces at the Pee Dee and Wilmington, to transfer the mails and baggage to and from their Road. And if the service will justify pay on one line, it ought to do so on all.

The Effect of the War upon the Price of Breadstuffs. The approaching war cannot fail to affect our supply of grain; but we would guard against the attempt that will in all probability be made, by interested parties, to raise the price beyond what the occasion warrants. England will probably lose a great part of the supplies which she has hitherto drawn the Mediterranean and Black Sea, which are or which may come under the influence of the Northern

America, as well the British provinces as the United States, will still be the provedore of England, as it has been for some years past; and the supplies which we shall draw from thence, as auxiliary to our own produce, and that which we shall receive from other sources beyond the reach or influence of Russia, must prevent any thing a change of policy should be given. But the underlike scarcity or inordinate prices.

within the last few days, is somewhat consolatory on this head. The quantity of grain, meal, and flour which we received from the United States in 1852, were equal to 1,400,558 quarters, converting meal and flour into the equivalent in quarters of qrs., and Prussia 554,742 qrs. From Russian northern ports, England received in the same year 343,948 qrs., and 957,877 qrs. from the Black Sea ports .-From Wallachia and Moldavia, we also received 713,-877 quarters, a source of supply which we suppose will be no longer available at present. On the whole, then, we may calculate on losing about two and a quarter millions of quarters of grain by the approaching hostilities. We have, however, every reason to believe that cultivation has greatly increased in the United States since 1852, consequent on the number of immigrants arrived there from the British islands, from Germany and other parts of Europe; indeed, the official account of the sale of land which has taken place in the United States, and brought under cultivation since 1852, would fully warrant us in believing that instead of one and a half millions of quarters of grain, which was the supply from thence in 1852, it will, in the present year, reach about double that quantity. But, besides the United States, we know, on authority which we have no reason to doubt, that our own North American Colonies are progressing in the raising of corn of ing manner, and it is not going too far to say that we may expect from this source, a supply which will be double the quantity ever exported to England. autumn prove favorable.

The Remonstrance of American Clarens in Havans against the Black Warrior Outrage.

Hon. WM. L. MARCY, Secretary of State: The undersigned, visitors of the island of Cuba or residents of Havana, and citizens of the United States, most respectfully, but earnestly, ask the attention of the Executive of our country to the unexpected interruption of our intercourse with home by the ate treatment of the Spanish authorities towards the American steamer Black Warrior, on her touching at the port of Havana, during her passage from Mobile

This steamer has been regularly passing alternately from the port of New York to the port of Mobile, touching at Havana to land and receive passengers from either of the above ports, for the last eighteen months, and during that time she has made thirtysix trips, and on each trip she has been visited by the officers of the Spanish government as she entered the harbor, and without breaking bulk and without landing, or intending to land, any cargo or other thing besides passengers, she has been allowed to depart from the harbor upon the payment of the dues required to be paid as a steamer in transitu and in ballast, amounting, on each arrival, to about ninety dollars. That the steamer's manifest has invariably been made as in ballast, as nothing was intended to be landed in Havana; and the steamer has thus been entered and discharged, enjoying from the government and its officers such favors and facilities which the comity of friendly nations allow to passenger steamers. That such facilities have been granted without objection, and received with becoming acknowledgement, and with a belief that they would be continued, and no commercial regulations disturbed, while the citizens of both countries would bebenefitted. That this transit intercourse was unknown at the time the friendly treaty was made by the two governments, and forms a subject not contemplated by that treaty, and which rests upon a law which a kind regard for the spirit of that treaty indicates, and the usage which has become fixed by practice and assent for a period sufficient to establish a custom, which could not have been an article in the treaty, because the whole subject has been created since the treaty was ratified. That the intercourse between the two countries has become so established, and the steamers which regularly perform their trips so available to the undersigned and others change of policy on the part of the Spanish authorities at Cuba, except such as should be made in the spirit of the treaty which made the two governments friendly nations, and certainly that they would suffer no interruption in their pursuits, and no embarrassment in their commercial relations, until a notice of signed are informed by J. D. Bullock, the commander of the steamer, while the course of the command er has been uniformly the same in entering and departing from the port of Havana, that on her last arrival from Mobile the conduct of the Spanish authorities has been changed towards him and the steamer, without notice and without provocation, and grain; from Egypt 775,745 qrs.; Denmark 770,196 that the steamer has been detained in the port, taken possession of by the government officials, and most of her cargo discharged. That some of the undersigned were passengers on our way from Mobile to New York, some on board as passengers from this port, and some sending home letters and information; but that our purposes have been all frustrated, and we obliged to abandon the objects we were pursuing. That in our judgment this sudden interruption to our intercourse, which has become important and of long standing, demands the prompt interference of our government, and an explanation and redress from her Catholic Majesty the Queen of Spain; and, therefore, while we are dwellers in her dominions, we earnestly yet most respectfully ask the government under whose protection we left our own country to demand such explanation and redress as shall be satisfactory to a great and honorable nation.

[Signed by all the American residents in Havana.] Havana de Cuba, March 4, 1854.
